The Man On The Street

—by—

SAMUEL B. PETTESGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Does industry pay a dollar in dividends for every dollar of wages? A poll on the West Coast showed that the Man on the Street believes that capital gets more than half of what is left after all other costs are paid, and labor less than half. In fact, 72% of the Men on the Street believe this.

Believing it, how do they feel? They feel sore at the American system. They think that is unfair. And, if true, it would be unfair. If I believed it, I would be a Socialist or a Communist too. I would say, "To hell with them. Take it out of their lousy profits."

Men vote as they think. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." If he thinks wrong, he will strike wrong and vote wrong.

How the Man on the Street thinks is more important to business than any other thing whatsoever. The Man on the Street holds every business from the corner grocery to the giant factory, in the hollow of his hand. The Man on the Street elects governors, congressmen, Presidents. As he believes, so he elects.

Well, what is the fact about this matter? Not the "bull" but the truth. After all other expenses are paid, we have, say $100 for both labor and capital, wages and dividends. The belief is that capital gets $50 or more, and labor gets $50 or less. Most people think less. That makes them bitter.

Now for the truth. I have gone to two sources, one private, the other the United States Department of Commerce. The private statistical organization is the National Industrial Conference Board. For the year 1939 it reports that of this $100 labor got $84.70 and capital got $15.30. This is nearly $6 to labor and $1 to capital. But bear in mind that nearly 60% of all business companies did not make any profits whatever for capital that year.

That was the figure for 1939. So I took the question up with the Department of Commerce. In their Survey of Current Business for January 1946, they give the division for all corporations for the year of 1944. It shows that after taking out the taxes paid to government "the ratio was almost seven to one." That is $7 to labor and $1 to capital.

This is a far cry from fifty-fifty, or more than 50 to capital and less than 50 to labor. The truth is about $87.50 to labor and $12.50 to capital. Of course the ratio varies in one industry from another, but this is the U. S. government average for all corporate business.

Now is 6 to 1, or 7 to 1 a fair division? Here is Mr. Investor. He puts in on the average, $6,000 in tools, buildings, etc., for every man employed. If the business fails he loses his dough. He takes that risk. If it succeeds he gets $1, while the man who uses his machinery gets $6 or $7.

For reasons I haven't room for here, I believe Mr. Worker would shake hands with Mr. Investor on the division again, say, "Fair enough, let's go to work."

But Mr. Worker has to know the truth about the split, the whole

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Moscow's promise to have all Russian troops out of Iran by May 6 was accepted yesterday by the United Nations Security Council, which deferred further discussion on the subject until that date with the proviso that if Russia's performance did not match her promise the matter would be reopened immediately. All delegates approved a resolution to this effect introduced by Secretary Byrnes except Ambassador Gromyko, who was not present, and Colonel Hodgson of Australia, who did not vote because he felt the Council had not fully met the challenge presented.

A new Soviet-Iranian treaty was reported under discussion in Tehran providing for closer economic relations between the two countries, outlets on the Gulf of Persia for Russia and assurances that no foreign powers could acquire bases or facilities in Iran for attack on Russia.

The next major political issue to confront the Council may be the Soviet proposal to admit Albania to the U. N. Britain will not establish diplomatic relations with that country, on the grounds of hostility and interference.

Compulsory jurisdiction over a limited group of disputes affecting the United States would be granted to the International Court of Justice under an Administration plan.

Moscow has requested a postponement of the Paris Peace Conference scheduled for May 1 because draft treaties are not ready. The United States, Britain and France oppose a delay, but Russia can veto the meeting.

Greece has a new coalition government headed by Premier Panayotis Poulitzas. Belgium's new van Acker Cabinet received a 107-91 vote of confidence. A Senate subcommittee has sent to President Truman a proposal for merging the armed services under a single Department of National Defense with a civilian secretary as desired by the Army.

WARRINGTON FOLKS OPPOSE "LAND-GRAB"

'Up-in-Arms' Over Possible Inundation for "Warrington Reservoir"

A PROTEST MEETING

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 5 — Facing possible land-grab of close to one-third the acreage of picturesque Warrington Township, Bucks county, that would be inundated under 40 to 60 feet of water as part of the proposed "Warrington Reservoir" project to furnish decent water to the City of Philadelphia, residents of the district are up-in-arms calling for an organized protest against Philadelphia's proposal.

Prospectville School was jammed Wednesday evening with protesting citizens from nearby Horsham Township in adjoining Montgomery county, along the Philadelphia-Easton Highway (Route 611), who attended a mass meeting and protested against what the proposal would do to Horsham Township as well. Many Bucks countians attended the meeting.

Four churches, farms, homes and industrial plants in addition to the entire village of Neshaunim on Route 611, five miles south of Doylestown, would be wiped off the map under the proposed plan—in Warrington Township alone.

In Horsham Township it is proposed to take 5,000 additional "fertile" acres, and 300 more from Montgomery township and 325 acres from Lower Gwynedd Township (both in Montgomery county).

The Philadelphia plan that has been kept "more or less" of a secret for some months after the first announcement, has now been unfolded to the public—with details—only a few days ago. Last night more was learned about the "land grab" at the Prospectville protest meeting.

The citizens of Warrington Township will hold a similar meeting very shortly.

Petitions of protest have already been filed by the Bucks County Commissioners, road supervisors of Warrington township and numerous other groups. Montgomery county has done likewise.

BIG-CITY BUDGET

New York City is now trying to digest its first post-war "reconversion" budget as submitted by the new mayor, William O'Dwyer.

Those who had hoped that, with the war emergency over, retrenchment and economy would hasten tax reductions were in for a serious shock.

The budget is much the largest in the city's history, calling for expenditures of $857,131,849 within the next fiscal year. This is $93,514,582 more than the present rate of spending, and requires more than $70,000,000 in new tax revenues.

In addition to a boost in the real estate tax rate, the mayor proposes to double the present one-cent sales tax, to double the tax on business enterprises, and to create new taxes on hotel rooms and race-track betting.

What looked like a sizeable increase in the moneys to be received by the city from the State and Federal governments, an added $22,000,000, barely made a dent in the higher levels of spending which the Mayor proposed.

Pennsylvanians have several reasons for being interested in the New York City budget. One is that the Keystone State governs a population not dissimilar in number to that ruled by Mayor O'Dwyer.

Comparisons are therefore in order; and the most conspicuous one is that, when State and Federal payments to New York are deducted, New York spends almost exactly twice what Pennsylvania spends; a one-year budget in New York City is approximately equal to a two-year budget in Pennsylvania.

Why the astounding difference? It is not sufficient to argue that New York City has special metropolitan responsibilities which Pennsylvania does not have. This

Arrested Here On Charge Of Attempted Car Theft

A 24-year-old man, resident of Murphy avenue, Bristol Terrace 1, was arrested by Bristol police this morning on the charge of attempted larceny of an automobile.

The man, William J. Smith, is being held at the municipal building, awaiting a hearing this evening. As Officers Nicol and Stackhouse were patrolling in the fourth ward at 2.45 this morning, they noticed that the motor of a car parked in front of William DiNunzio's garage, Beaver and New Buckley streets, was running, and saw a man seated in the car.

Questioning Smith they found that he was about to start off with the car, he having found the keys in the ignition switch.

CO. JUDGE DIRECTS FORFEITURES OF LIQUOR AND AUTOS

Become Possessions of The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board

IS A BRISTOL CASE

Confiscated Sedan Belonged To The Bristol Defendant

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 5 — Judge Calvin S. Boyer at a session of miscellaneous court this week, following a hearing on petitions for forfeiture of two cars and untaxed liquor, signed them making them decrees and the automobiles and liquor became the possessions of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

Leo A. Connor, Special Investigator for the U. S. Treasury, testified how a Bristol distillery had been missing some whiskey and began an investigation.

Two men, Fred Reinas, of Burlington, N. J., and King Robert Holzfendorf, Bristol Terrace, were arrested January 11th and charged with illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

Reinas was sentenced by Judge Boyer in February to pay a fine of $300 and serve not less than three months. Holzfendorf was fined $250. Both defendants pleaded guilty.

This week in court Special Investigator Connor testified that the two cases of whiskey had government stamps on them but no state stamps.

Charles Devlin, Enforcement Officer for the Penna. Liquor Control Board, in his testimony, revealed that 13 bottles of untaxed whiskey were found at Holzfendorf's home in Bristol Terrace.

A 1940 Buick sedan, which belonged to the Bristol defendant, and was in the custody of the Bucks County Sheriff since his arrest, was turned over to the Penna. State Liquor Control Board.

A 1939 Chevrolet coupe, which was owned by Daniel Parentebut, driven that night by Fred Reinas, was also confiscated.

Teachers Meet To Hear Salary Question Reports

The Bristol Teachers' Association held a special meeting yesterday afternoon to hear reports of committees in relation to the salary question in the Bristol schools.

Miss Annie Heritage, chairman, reported on results of the bonus committee which had presented a petition to the school board Tuesday evening. Walter Rosser, chairman of the salary committee, gave his report on the meeting with the school board committee on Wednesday evening, and the progress which is being made to seek establishment of a new salary schedule. He discussed with the association how the school board and above committee are working together on a definite schedule projected far enough into the future so that it will not only attract the best teachers to Bristol but make it worth while for them to remain here.

The teachers offered suggestions and criticisms to the chairman of the salary schedule committee. As the bonus petition and salary schedule are now under consideration by the board members, the association meeting adjourned to await developments at the next meeting of the school board.

ONE MAN'S OPINION - - -

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

UNO Hall (Exclusive)—Look for something to happen here and when it happens . . . remember I predicted it exclusively!

No other reporter can make this vague claim!

Andre Gromyko did not attend the Wednesday session and Bob Taft walked out of a hearing in Washington . . . This is the first time Republicans have acted like Communists or vice versa.

The new Republican chairman says he has no pet candidate for 1948 . . . This time Dewey will have to depend on his own mustache.

The presidency doesn't pay much but it has some dandy sidelines for a large family.

So far, no president's family is on relief and the postage stamp collection has returned 211 thousand dollars.

If I was Truman I'd start collecting samples of currency with a higher book value than stamps.

This may sound like treason to philatelists but let us remember that Philadelphia is only one city.

Oops! Here comes Gromyko!

Modesty Urged By Speaker at Rotary

"Be very sure of the things you know, be modest, be sure of the truth and use common sense, if you would have the millennium which you have heard so much about but do not see," was the thought presented by the Rev. J. L. Pitt, when he spoke to Bristol Rotarians at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

The speaker, formerly associate headmaster at the Pennington School, Pennington, N. J., and now executive secretary of a Masonic organization in Trenton, N. J., told Rotarians that repeating misinformation is very harmful. He also warned against an overbearing and "swell-headed" attitude, pointing out that this is one of the causes for the present unrest throughout the world.

BUCKS COUNTY TO AID IN DRIVE FOR SALVATION ARMY

Bristol Girl Reserves Will Conduct A Canvass In The Borough

ENDORSERS NUMEROUS

Bucks County's Share In The Campaign Is Listed At $14,535

As the war is over, the Salvation Army will devote its energies to "Save the Youth" movement, which will replace some of its work among servicemen during the war. The "Army" will open six youth centers in Philadelphia in its endeavor to solve this problem.

The goal for southeastern Pennsylvania is $750,000; and for Bucks County, $14,535.

The campaign was opened by a luncheon at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia, on April 1st. State Secretary of Internal Affairs, William S. Livengood, Jr., in his address stated, "FBI figures show that arrests of young girls under 18 have increased about 200 per cent since the end of the war," he said, "and the arrests of boys under 18 about 60 per cent. It is far better to spend a few hundred dollars in trying to prevent crime, by stopping the poison at its source, than to spend the $30,000 it takes to maintain every 'lifer' in a state penitentiary."

The campaign in Bucks County will again be under the chairmanship of Wallace G. Murfit of Newtown, with the following co-chairmen: William M. Hill, Jr., Sellersville; J. Carroll Molloy, Jr., Doylestown; and A. E. Lewis, Bristol.

The Bucks County Endorsing Committee consists of the following: Webster S. Achey, Hon. Calvin S. Boyer, Arthur M. Eastburn, Mrs. Irvin M. James, Thomas Ross, Doylestown; Mrs. Frank Lehman, Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., Bristol; Miss Alvina Afflerbach, Quakertown; Mrs. Marian Davis, Richboro; Dr. E. C. Deubler, Newtown; Miss Dorothy Van Sant, Cornwells; Mrs. John F. Polinsbee, New Hope; Mrs. Jane P. Frick, Perkasie; J. V. Hare, Treves; Wm. M. Hill, Jr., Sellersville; J. C. Maschke, Sellersville; Charles M. Meredith, Jr., Quakertown; E. F. Ammons, Ivyland; William F. Reeder, Newtown; C. Wilson Roberts, Southampton; and George A. Walton, George School.

In Bristol members of the Girl Reserves of Bristol high school, under chairmanship of Miss Marion E. Peck, will conduct a canvass.

Much of the campaign is being carried on by the Junior Women's Clubs

ARMY CRIME RECORD

Many civilians undoubtedly have the idea that lawlessness is prevalent among American troops overseas. They read about some particularly serious crime and take it for granted that it is just one of a great number. Some remarks by an officer who ought to know should serve to shed a different light on the matter.

The officer is Brig. Gen. Edwin C. McNeil, who commanded the European branch office of the Judge Advocate General. On his return to this country the other day he said that the crime record of the American Army in Europe from July, 1942, until mid-February of this year was exceedingly creditable, with only one-half of one per cent of 4,000,000 men ever becoming before a general court-martial. Not more than 8,000, or .19 of one per cent, finally were lost to the service by dishonorable discharge.

General McNeil said that crime in many instances was a psychological reaction from the steady grind of military duty and the lack of spiritual uplift in a war theater.

Civilians in general know very little of the psychological effect of war upon those who fight it. And those who have jumped at the conclusion that Army life is just another term for the disregard of law and order might be exceedingly embarrassed to find that the crime record of their own communities is considerably worse proportionately than that of the Army.

A PIECE AT A TIME

For the man who does his vegetable gardening after work or over the week-ends, this is a tantalizing time of year. His schedule is crowded with any number of things that ought to have prompt attention and most of the time it seems impossible to get them out of the way.

For it is already time to plant. In fact, flats of tomatoes, eggplant and cabbage should have been taken care of before this, and such things as peas, spinach, onion seeds and sets, carrots, beets and lettuce should have been started in the open ground. But it is only the exceptional gardener who will have all this in hand at this time even if the season has been unusual for good weather.

The trouble is that the garden has to be cleaned up before anything can be done. Last year's trash must be gotten out of the way before fertilizer can be spread in preparation for spading and raking. It is necessary to do them when conditions are right, for wet soil cannot be worked to advantage. And conditions are rarely right in the spring.

There is a solution. One way to make progress is to do a small piece at a time, leaving the remainder of the plot until later. A short row of carrots or lettuce is all that is needed for a beginning, though peas do require a great deal of space. Even then it's hard to keep abreast of the season, but at least it's a satisfaction to know that something is growing although everything is not exactly under control.

Electrical Appliance Store Opened by Woler

With the grand opening today of Woler's new electrical appliance store at 204 Mill street, shoppers will find one of the most modern and most complete stores of this type in lower Bucks County.

The new store, completely modern in design, was started last August. It adds approximately 3500 square feet of floor space to the present Woler's store which has 2500 square feet of floor space. Modern apartments are located on the second floor of the new structure.

The combined stores, now reaching from 204 to 208 Mill street, present a pleasing appearance, both from the interior and exterior.

According to the owner, A. Woler, a complete line of electrical merchandise will be featured, including refrigerators, radios, vacuum cleaners, stoves, shavers, clocks, hot plates, water pumps, power mowers, electric and fluorescent fixtures, irons, toasters, broilers, heaters, washers and ironers.

Inside Your Congress

truth, nothing under the table, and believe it. If he doesn't know it and doesn't believe it, he is ready for the hammer and sickle instead of the Stars and Stripes.

Whose business is it to get the truth to him? It is the business of honest labor leaders themselves—rather than to whip up envy and hate with fake figures.

But it is primarily the business of businessmen. In this, most of them have fallen down on the job. They wait until there is a strike and then when feeling runs warm they try at the eleventh hour, in big full page ads, to tell a little of the story.

The only thing that makes me an optimist about the American system—and its chance to survive—is that it is, in truth and fact, an incomparably better and fairer system than the picture of it which a lot of dumb business men allow to persist in the minds of the public. But by their indifference and inaction, they are taking an awful chance for their stockholders, workers and the country's heritage of free institutions.

is partly true: police, fire and park services in New York account for $137,145,702 of the total budget, and New York operates subways and ferry-boats at a heavy expense.

On the other hand, Pennsylvania has extra costs which should nearly cancel out that of New York. The Keystone State has several departments, such as Mines, Agriculture, etc., which New York does not operate. Moreover, in the important item of public assistance, New York pays only 20 per cent whereas Pennsylvania pays 50 per cent of the total.

The reasons for the glaring difference lie along different lines. The most conspicuous is the matter of public debt. For seven years, Pennsylvania has enjoyed careful husbandry of state revenues; the state has lived painstakingly within its means. As a result, the debt has been sharply reduced, so that debt charges are almost negligible.

In New York City, on the contrary, debt service charges alone are at the fantastic level of $154,524,275, more than one-sixth of the entire budget. What it costs New York City to try to struggle out of debt is almost equal to the combined subsidy and operation costs of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, or $155,827,000.

Mention of the word subsidy brings up another striking difference between New York City policy and that which Pennsylvania has followed.

In Pennsylvania, subsidies are payments to worthwhile semi-public institutions—principally hospitals and schools—which are not fully self-supporting.

New York, on the contrary, has followed the New Deal theory of applying subsidies to business transactions which ought to stand on their own feet. The five-cent fare in New York's subway system is subsidized. Under the O'Dwyer budget, it is going to cost the taxpayers at least $54,769,000 to make up what the 5-cent fare loses—more if the subway employees are given "cost of living" wage increases.

It is easy to understand that one of the hot political issues in New York is the interesting question of whether the subway riders ought to pay their own fares, or continue to shove part of them over to the taxpayers.

The O'Dwyer budget is conspicuous for raising virtually everybody's salaries—except possibly the subway workers. No fewer than 107,269 pay adjustments are called for specifically, and many others proposed in general. The impression which the budget message conveys is that most of the increase will go to raising existing wages and to hiring more employees at the higher levels.

This is generous of Mayor O'Dwyer—but the heavily burdened taxpayers who will have to carry the added load may wish he were less open-handed.

Here again the Pennsylvania practice is in striking contrast. Within the last six years, many times as many pay increases have been given State employees as Mayor O'Dwyer lists; but here they have been financed out of existing surpluses created by thrift—not merely tacked on the taxpayers' bill.

'Leads Guilty To The Theft of Liquor

Fisher, who proudly told Judge Rimmer, who had been drinking—has never been on relief day in his life, admitted that he rank too much.

Or other details, all he remembered is that he wanted some more to drink—he had been drinking—and he took the bottles to his quarters over the garage.

Since he has been in prison since March 6th, he will be eligible for parole next week.

Elmer T. Lefever, Woodbourne, charged with non-support, was ordered by Judge Boyer to pay $20 a week toward the support of his wife, Laura, and three small children, nine, eight and six years old.

Lefever, who is in the arraignments, was warned by Judge Boyer to refrain from spending his money on drink when his wife and children need it so badly.

A friend of Mrs. Lefever, who testified in her behalf, said she was an excellent mother, never pending any money foolishly for her children and that she knitted their own caps, gloves and made an excellent home for the three small youngsters.

"Whether or not you live with your wife is your own business," said Judge Boyer, "but whether you support your children is the Court's business and we will see to it that they do not become wards of the county."

"If you conduct yourself like a man you will win the respect, and then, on the affection of your children," Judge Boyer said.

He was advised to stay out of prooms and keep away from other women because he couldn't afford to live that way.

James J. Weisay, of Bristol, whose life was granted a divorce from his March 25, but who is in arrears $190 for the support of two children, was ordered by Judge Boyer to pay the sum of $22 a week, $10 for the support of the children and $12 to catch up on the arrears.

Robert Rimmer, of Edison, charged with desertion and non-support, as ordered by Judge Boyer to pay $14 a week toward the support of his three children and $10 on arrears which he said were caused when he had to pay a bill growing out of an automobile accident.

"I had to make up my mind which one to pay first because either one would get me into trouble," Rimmer, who is employed at a local inn as a chef, told the Court.

Mrs. Rimmer, according to Miss L. Gertrude Bright, also contributes to the support of their three children, two of whom are residing near Lahaska, and another who is recuperating from an illness in Stockton, N. J.

Joseph Stevens, charged with desertion and non-support, was ordered by Judge Boyer to pay the sum of $20 a week for the support of his wife, Jeanette, and daughter Eleanore.

Bucks County Scenes Shown; Club Has Contest

LANGHORNE, Apr. 5.—The showing of natural color slides, including beautiful Bucks County scenery and many flowers, was a feature of the Langhorne Sorosis meeting yesterday afternoon in the library. The slides were shown by Earl P. Allard, of Trevose Horticultural Society.

Another feature was a display of flower arrangements by members. Two classes were arranged, one of shrubs and one of spring flowers. Prize winners in the first group are: 1st, Miss Ruth Wildman; 2nd, Mrs. A. C. Tresham; end, Miss Anna Newbold; second group—1st, Mrs. Roscoe L. Horner; 2nd, Miss Ruth Wildman; 3rd, Miss Anna Newbold.

A paper on flower arrangement, written by Mrs. Paxson, of Trevose Horticultural Society, was read by Mrs. Paul Kirschman.

The program was sponsored by the conservation and garden committee; and Mrs. Phillip G. Lewis presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Lewis named Mrs. Myron Harris and Mrs. Henry L. Ridge as delegates to Bucks Co. Federation meeting this month at Morrisville. She asked that any who can accommodate members in their cars to so notify the president.

It was suggested that Sorosis members take their donations for the Red Cross rummage sale to the club meeting on April 18th. That meeting will feature a talk and exhibition regarding bells, the speakers being Mrs. Charles Musser, who has a collection of more than 1000 bells, the exhibit now being in Philadelphia Free Library.

Scientist and Wife Will Travel To Pacific Area

NEW HOPE, Apr. 5.—Assistant professor of anthropology at the University of Texas, Dr. Allen H. Dr. Smith will receive the $3,000 demobilization award from the Social Science Research Council of Washington, D. C., to go to the Ryukyu Islands to make a study of the cultures of the people in that area.

A lieutenant (jg) during World

War No. 11, Dr. Smith is a linguist as well as an anthropologist. He was a student in the Japanese language school at Boulder, Colo., and served with intelligence units of the Second Marine Division for the final phase of the Saipan engagement and throughout the Tinian campaign. He volunteered for an assignment on Okinawa and was one of the first language officers to be sent to Japan.

ARMY CRIME RECORD

Many civilians undoubtedly have the idea that lawlessness is prevalent among American troops overseas. They read about some particularly serious crime and take it for granted that it is just one of a great number. Some remarks by an officer who ought to know should serve to shed a different light on the matter.

The officer is Brig. Gen. Edwin C. McNeil, who commanded the European branch office of the Judge Advocate General. On his return to this country the other day he said that the crime record of the American Army in Europe from July, 1942, until mid-February of this year was exceedingly creditable, with only one-half of one per cent of 4,000,000 men ever becoming before a general court-martial. Not more than 8,000, or .19 of one per cent, finally were lost to the service by dishonorable discharge.

General McNeil said that crime in many instances was a psychological reaction from the steady grind of military duty and the lack of spiritual uplift in a war theater.

Civilians in general know very little of the psychological effect of war upon those who fight it. And those who have jumped at the conclusion that Army life is just another term for the disregard of law and order might be exceedingly embarrassed to find that the crime record of their own communities is considerably worse proportionately than that of the Army.

A PIECE AT A TIME

For the man who does his vegetable gardening after work or over the week-ends, this is a tantalizing time of year. His schedule is crowded with any number of things that ought to have prompt attention and most of the time it seems impossible to get them out of the way.

For it is already time to plant. In fact, flats of tomatoes, eggplant and cabbage should have been taken care of before this, and such things as peas, spinach, onion seeds and sets, carrots, beets and lettuce should have been started in the open ground. But it is only the exceptional gardener who will have all this in hand at this time even if the season has been unusual for good weather.

The trouble is that the garden has to be cleaned up before anything can be done. Last year's trash must be gotten out of the way before fertilizer can be spread in preparation for spading and raking. It is necessary to do them when conditions are right, for wet soil cannot be worked to advantage. And conditions are rarely right in the spring.

There is a solution. One way to make progress is to do a small piece at a time, leaving the remainder of the plot until later. A short row of carrots or lettuce is all that is needed for a beginning, though peas do require a great deal of space. Even then it's hard to keep abreast of the season, but at least it's a satisfaction to know that something is growing although everything is not exactly under control.

and then when feeling runs warm they try at the eleventh hour, in big full page ads, to tell a little of the story.

The only thing that makes me an optimist about the American system—and its chance to survive—is that it is, in truth and fact, an incomparably better and fairer system than the picture of it which a lot of dumb business men allow to persist in the minds of the public. But, by their indifference and inaction, they are taking an awful chance for their stockholders, workers and the country's heritage of free institutions.

is partly true: police, fire and park services in New York account for $137,145,702 of the total budget, and New York operates subways and ferry-boats at a heavy expense.

On the other hand, Pennsylvania has extra costs which should nearly cancel out that of New York. The Keystone State has several departments, such as Mines, Agriculture, etc., which New York does not operate. Moreover, in the important item of public assistance, New York pays only 20 per cent whereas Pennsylvania pays 50 per cent of the total.

The reasons for the glaring difference lie along different lines. The most conspicuous is the matter of public debt. For seven years, Pennsylvania has enjoyed careful husbandry of state revenues; the state has lived painstakingly within its means. As a result, the debt has been sharply reduced, so that debt charges are almost negligible.

In New York City, on the contrary, debt service charges alone are at the fantastic level of $154,524,275, more than one-sixth of the entire budget. What it costs New York City to try to struggle out of debt is almost equal to the combined subsidy and operation costs of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, or $155,827,000.

Mention of the word subsidy brings up another striking difference between New York City policy and that which Pennsylvania has followed.

In Pennsylvania, subsidies are payments to worthwhile semi-public institutions—principally hospitals and schools—which are not fully self-supporting.

New York, on the contrary, has followed the New Deal theory of applying subsidies to business transactions which ought to stand on their own feet. The five-cent fare in New York's subway system is subsidized. Under the O'Dwyer budget, it is going to cost the taxpayers at least $54,769,000 to make up what the 5-cent fare loses—more if the subway employees are given "cost of living" wage increases.

It is easy to understand that one of the hot political issues in New York is the interesting question of whether the subway riders ought to pay their own fares, or continue to shove part of them over to the taxpayers.

The O'Dwyer budget is conspicuous for raising virtually everybody's salaries—except possibly the subway workers. No fewer than 107,269 pay adjustments are called for specifically, and many others proposed in general. The impression which the budget message conveys is that most of the increase will go to raising existing wages and to hiring more employees at the higher levels.

This is generous of Mayor O'Dwyer—but the heavily burdened taxpayers who will have to carry the added load may wish he were less open-handed.

Here again the Pennsylvania practice is in striking contrast. Within the last six years, many times as many pay increases have been given State employees as Mayor O'Dwyer lists; but here they have been financed out of existing surpluses created by thrift—not merely tacked on the taxpayers' bill.

Pleads Guilty To The Theft of Liquor

Fisher, who proudly told Judge Boyer he had never been on relief a day in his life, admitted that he drank too much.

Other details, all he remembered is that he wanted some more to drink—he had been drinking—and he took the bottles to his quarters over the garage.

Since he has been in prison since March 6th, he will be eligible for parole next week.

Elmer T. Lefever, Woodbourne, charged with non-support, was ordered by Judge Boyer to pay $20 a week toward the support of his wife, Laura, and three small children, nine, eight and six years old.

Lefever, who is in the arrears, was warned by Judge Boyer to refrain from spending his money on drink when his wife and children need it so badly.

A friend of Mrs. Lefever, who testified in her behalf, said she was an excellent mother, never spending any money foolishly for the children and that she knitted their own caps, gloves and made an excellent home for the three small youngsters.

"Whether or not you live with your wife is your own business," said Judge Boyer, "but whether you support your children is the Court's business and we will see to it that they do not become wards of the county."

"If you conduct yourself like a man you will win the respect, and later on, the affection of your children," Judge Boyer said.

He was advised to stay out of taprooms and keep away from other women because he couldn't afford to live that way.

James J. Weiss, of Bristol, whose wife was granted a divorce from him March 25, but who is in arrears $190 for the support of two children, was ordered by Judge Boyer to pay the sum of $22 a week, $10 for the support of the children and $12 to catch up on the arrears.

Robert Rimmer, of Edison, charged with desertion and non-support, was ordered by Judge Boyer to pay $14 a week toward the support of his three children and $10 on arrears which he said were caused when he had to pay a bill growing out of an automobile accident.

"I had to make up my mind which one to pay first because either one would get me into trouble," Rimmer, who is employed at a local inn as a chef, told the Court.

Mrs. Rimmer, according to Miss L. Gertrude Bright, also contributes to the support of their three children, two of whom are residing near Lahaska, and another who is recuperating from an illness in Stockton, N. J.

Joseph Stevens, charged with desertion and non-support, was ordered by Judge Boyer to pay the sum of $20 a week for the support of his wife, Jeanette, and daughter Eleanore.

Bucks County Scenes Shown; Club Has Contest

LANGHORNE, Apr. 5—The showing of natural color slides, including beautiful Bucks County scenery and many flowers, was a feature of the Langhorne Sorosis meeting yesterday afternoon in the library. The slides were shown by Earl P. Allard, of Treves Horticultural Society.

Another feature was a display of flower arrangements by members. Two classes were arranged, one of shrubs and one of spring flowers. Prize winners in the first group are: 1st, Miss Ruth Wildman; 2nd, Mrs. A. C. Tresham; end, Miss Anna Newbold; second group—1st, Mrs. Roscoe L. Horner; 2nd, Miss Ruth Wildman; 3rd, Miss Anna Newbold.

A paper on flower arrangement, written by Mrs. Paxson, of Treves Horticultural Society, was read by Mrs. Paul Kirschman.

The program was sponsored by the conservation and garden committee; and Mrs. Phillip G. Lewis presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Lewis named Mrs. Myron Harris and Mrs. Henry L. Ridge as delegates to Bucks Co. Federation meeting this month at Morrisville. She asked that any who can accommodate members in their cars to so notify the president.

It was suggested that Sorosis members take their donations for the Red Cross rummage sale to the club meeting on April 18th. That meeting will feature a talk and exhibition regarding bells, the speakers being Mrs. Charles Musser, who has a collection of more than 1000 bells, the exhibit now being in Philadelphia Free Library.

Warrington township has an assessment of $1,510,962, and the Philadelphia plan would take away about $592,235 of that assessment. The county tax is 4 mills, the road tax is 5 mills and the school tax is 10 mills in Warrington.

Warrington residents point out that the Philadelphia plan if approved would defeat the township's efforts being put forth for a new school expansion program which will be voted on at the next election.

In Warrington township alone, just a few of the places that would be wiped out for reservoir purposes would include the Paul Valley Cabin Works, the Nesheim School, Warrington Township Fire Company building, Nesheim general store and postoffice, Allenwald Nursery, the parsonage of a Catholic church and leaving the church standing next to the reservoir; a Jewish Synagogue, Cozens Memorial Methodist Church of Warrington, numerous farms and individual homes, including the 200-acre Joseph Penrose farm and the 90-acre Frank Carrell farm.

What's more, the Philadelphia plan would be the re-routing of a number of highways including part of Route 611 (Lackawanna Trail between Willow Grove and Easton). It would mean that part of this highway would go directly through the Warrington Inn, an historical eating place at Warrington.

It is understood that there is an act of Legislature passed April 11, 1866, which gives Philadelphia county the right to condemn land in adjoining counties for such purposes.

Under the Philadelphia proposal, source of the water supply for Philadelphia is the upper Delaware River basin in the Poconos. Under the proposed plan a reservoir is to be constructed at Bushkill and the water piped by way of a submerged conduit in the bed of the Delaware River to a point near Yardley, Bucks county, then across Bucks county to Warrington.

The other dam detailed plans show to be almost 50 feet high, is proposed at Nesheim, south of Doylestown, covering a portion of Bucks and Montgomery counties. Here the immediate water supply would be stored in the proposed reservoir and subsequent pipe lines installed to pipe the water into Philadelphia.

Plans show that the entire community of Nesheim would be wiped out. The village of Horsham proper would not be affected but the seven square mile area of Horsham township would be, and five square miles more in Warrington township as well.

Bucks County Commissioners have already taken the necessary legal steps to state off any progress in the Philadelphia plan.

Sportsmen's Briefs

BY JOE ELBERSON

Fish stocking . . . the Fish Commission started its 1946 stocking program in this area on Monday with a very generous planting of catfish in Silver Lake, Maple Beach and the Canal.

A total of 2600 fish were stocked. It took two separate trips from the State Hatchery in Torredale to bring them to Bristol.

They represented as fine a stocking of catfish as has ever been received locally. The catties ranged in size from 8 to 18 inches.

Silver Lake received 1000, Maple Beach 800, and the Canal, from Bristol to New Hope, received 800.

Big meeting . . . next Tuesday evening, April 9th, the April meeting of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association will be held in the Odd Fellows' Hall, with several extra attractions promised by the committee in charge of arrangements. Highlighting the program will be a series of outstanding sports movies. Refreshments have also been promised. The meeting, as usual, is open to all interested sportsmen.

Traps almost ready . . . work has almost been completed on the two blue rock traps of the Bristol Club, with one trap already in operation. Within the next week both traps will be ready to function . . . provided the boys interested in shooting clay birds can find ammunition. The Club has a limited supply of targets on hand.

First entry . . . honors for the first entry in the 1946 fishing contest sponsored by the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association for its members goes to Leo Daniels, well-known Bristol angler, with his catch of a two and one-half pound catfish in the Delaware River last Friday. Don't know what bait Leo used but a good many of the River catfish fishermen use cheese.

It's a fact . . . a bullet dropped from the hand and one fired from a rifle will hit the ground at the same instant, provided the bore of the rifle is held parallel to the ground when it is fired. The explanation for this seemingly unbelievable fact, according to George E. Frost, technical advisor of Western Cartridge Company, is that the pull of gravity on both bullets is exactly the same.

Regardless of the velocity at which the bullet may be fired from the rifle, gravity pulls it to earth at the same rate of speed, namely, 32.2 feet per second.

Federation meeting . . . on Monday evening, April 8th, delegates from the organized sportsmen's clubs of Bucks county will meet in Doylestown for the monthly meeting of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. Chairman Allan Woolf, Morrisville, urges all delegates to be on hand for the meeting.

Nice catch . . . Walter Ford, of Hayes street, fishing in the Delaware yesterday, came home with 10 catfish and 6 yellow perch, the "catties" being pretty big fellows. Worms were used for bait.

AWARD TROPHIES AT YOUTH LEAGUE ANNUAL BANQUET

Awards Made to Individual Players and Teams at Basketball Affair

SEVERAL SPEAKERS Talks on "Delinquency" Also Feature in Mutual Aid Hall

Awarding of trophies to individual players and teams and talks on sports and juvenile delinquency featured the second annual banquet of the Bristol Youth Basketball League held last night in the Mutual Aid Hall, Wood street.

The speakers of the evening were: District Attorney of Bucks County, Edward H. Blester; Robert Graney, former All-American football star of Fordham University; "Ace" Abbott, basketball star of Baltimore Bullets; Devon Smith, former basketball star of Trenton Tigers and University of Michigan; "Tom" Campion, who recently resigned as coach of Bristol H. S.; Burgess Jacob C. Schmidt, Sr., and Anthony Scaffa, pres., S. Philadelphia Youth Basketball League.

Introduced from the speakers' table were: Rev. Fr. E. Paul Baird, St. Mark's Church; Rev. William Carroll, Harriman Methodist Church; Thomas Juno, league advisor; Renzo Girotti, league secretary-treasurer; "Nick" Rago, league official; Chief of Police Linford J. Jones; Justice of Peace Arthur P. Brady; Fred C. Leyden, member of Fathers' Association and K. of C.; Henry C. Morgan, sports official; Michael DeLissi, coach of Langhorne-Middletown H. S.; Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo; William Slater, grand knight, K. of C.; John Cordisco, president, Mutual Aid Society; and Seaman Dominick Oriola, captain of Franklin basketball team.

Thomas Juno, league advisor, welcomed the group. The Rev. George E. Boswell gave the invocation. Mr. Juno then introduced Ralph Palladino, president of the league, who acted as toastmaster.

After congratulating winners of the league, Mr. Palladino introduced Anthony Scaffa.

"A little town like Bristol is making a monkey out of a city like Philadelphia with a league like this," stated Mr. Scaffa who expressed the desire that movements of a like nature should spread throughout the country in combating juvenile delinquency. Mr. Scaffa served aboard the battleship the U. S. S. Missouri on which ship the Japanese surrendered.

Burgess Schmidt, who donated carnations to those present, spoke of the wonderful work he had heard of the league and that one borough official told him that "it was the greatest improvement Bristol ever had."

Devon Smith, who played with Allentown and the Trenton Tigers this past season, and who hails from the University of Michigan, told of his interest in youth basketball. He outlined several programs which the league intends to organize for the summer, including movies of the 1945 world's series.

Tom Campion, Bristol high coach, told of how he spent several years in the service and how after every battle he looked forward to the day when he would return to the Bristol boys and continue his coaching career.

Robert Graney, an executive of Kaiser Cargo, division of Fleetwings, Inc., spoke of the days when he played football at Fordham and when he was assistant coach of St. Mary's College. At the present time he is a scout for the St. Mary's team and until two years ago was a member of the Secret Service bureau of the United States Government.

Graney congratulated the Franklin and Harriman teams, champion of the circuit, but had a word of praise for the last-place Fifth Ward Sports. The Sports proved what it is to fight by beating the Catholic Boys' Club in the final game of the season, knocking that club out of the playoffs. The Sports hadn't won a game all season.

Speaking of life, Graney said: "There are two ways to learn a person. One is to live with him and the other is to play sports with him."

Speaking of basketball, Mr. Graney deplored the "prima donna" who hang around a basket and wait until the ball is thrown to them to score. "These 'prima donnas' only play 15 minutes of a game but my idea of a player is the one who can get in there and play 40 minutes and never coast. Team work is a main factor in team success. The boys who can pass, get the ball off the boards, and has good floorwork as well as shoot, is bound to get along but not those who look around for the camera-man everytime they make a shot."

The organizing of a basketball clinic at the start of next season was again suggested by "Ace" Abbott, former All-American basketball star of City College of New York and at present member of Baltimore Bullets. As the Bullets will soon play in Philadelphia, Abbott has arranged for members of the Harriman team to be his guests. Abbott spoke of his experiences in basketball games both in college and professionally.

District Attorney Blester compared the game of basketball with life when he stated that you cannot make a basket unless you shoot and you cannot get along in life unless you take a chance as in life you must depend on team play and must live with other people. "Getting boys off the streets is a great thing," but there are also some old folks that should be getting off the streets.

As one of the previous speakers had stated that during the basketball season not one complaint was received in regards to youths hanging on street corners, Blester concluded that if the movement spread throughout the county maybe the district attorney would be out of a job.

Before the awarding of prizes, John Praksa, Harriman captain, presented Richard Brown, manager, with a gift on behalf of the players, and Joseph Kervick, manager of the Catholic Boys' Club, presented gifts to Ralph Palladino, Renzo Girotti, Nick Rago, and Thomas Juno, on behalf of the teams.

"Flowers" Favorosa was given an award for winning the foul shooting contest staged before the playoffs. Marvin "Whitey" Walters was awarded the prize for the best defensive player in the league. In the absence of Walters, his prize was received by "Bill" Foltz. Walters is now in the U. S. Navy. The best sportsman prize went to "Eddie" Mazzanti, Fifth Ward Sports. The league's leading scorer for the second consecutive year was Fred Costantino. Costantino is now in the army and his award was received by John Cordisco, Ramblers manager. The most valuable player award went to John Rodgers, Third Ward Eagles, and most courageous player award to "Tommy" Kervick, Catholic Boys' Club.

As the Ramblers did not receive a trophy for winning the championship they were given their trophy last night. It was received by Manager John Cordisco. The Third Ward Eagles received this season's runner-up trophy with John Rodgers representing the team. Franklin A. C. and the Harriman teams, winners of the regular season and O'Shaughnessy playoff, respectively, were also given trophies.

The benediction was by the Rev. Fr. Peter Pinci, rector of St. Ann's Church.

The teams and their managers: Harriman, "Dick" Brown; Franklin, John Fields, Jr.; third ward, Harry Oliver; Celtics, Vito Della; Ramblers, John Cordisco, Jr.; Catholic Boys' Club, Joseph Kervick; Edgely, Fred Hibbs; Fifth Ward Sports, Joseph DeLissi.

A catered turkey dinner was served, and dancing followed.
